

Study Group on Life-cycle Maintenance

The past huge capital stock in both public and sectors faces an era of maintenance. JATES raises awareness of importance of maintenance, as well as promotes information exchange for ideal situation of the maintenance and development of such technologies, and also provides corporate members with opportunities to visit and observe actual maintenance sites in order to learn practical maintenance technique. Investigation and research activities for maintenance are also performed. Various industries such as Transportation, Electricity, Gas, Water, Communications and their relating manufacturers join this study group.